

How to Connect Wirelessly with Windows XP

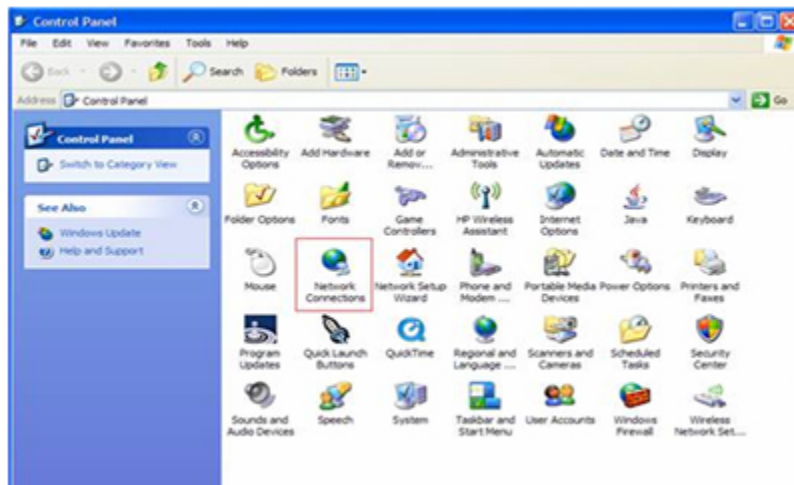

How to Connect Wirelessly with Windows XP

- Click on the Start button. Then click on the Control Panel.

- Double-click on the Network Connections icon in the Control Panel. If the screen does not look like the one pictured below, click on Switch to Classic View in the top left of the Control Panel.

- Locate and right click on the Wireless Network Connection icon. Select View Available Wireless Networks.

- The Wireless Network Connection window will appear displaying available networks. Then click on the Connect button on the bottom of the page.
- Next a box will pop up asking for the Network Key. Enter the correct network security key now.
- A box will pop up showing Windows is trying to connect to your wireless network. Wait until this process finishes.
- The Wireless Network list will open up again. Confirm that it says “Connected” on the right side of your Wireless Network. Open Internet Explorer and check for a connection.

